

I have signed up for the no-call program and I certainly don't want credit card companies and/or banks to have the right to call. This will water down the law so bad that it just as well be repealed.